◀ Selling Ideas ▶

- A professional hockey team sells the 2-packs of Face Paints in their team's colors in the gift shop at their home ice arena. The fans LOVE this product! The stick style makes for quick & easy application, & the bright & vibrant colors are certainly noticed, even on the Jumbotron!
- A local military recruiting office held a paintball tournament to raise money for soldiers returning home. Upon registering, players were given a goodie-bag that included the game rules, camouflage team t-shirts, & Face Paints in brown, green, & black. The players eagerly disguised their faces with the paints, which helped them blend into the wooded playing field & added to the fun of the event.
- To boost team morale, students attending their high school's homecoming football game were given Paper Megaphones imprinted with the school's mascot & colors. A coupon was printed on the inside offering students a free popcorn at the next home game. The Paper Megaphones were a fun & easy way for students to show their school spirit & cheer on their team.
